

The practical lesson was held at Pedagogical Institute on the 25th of March 2016 on the theme «Spare the rod and spoil the child» with participation of Ben Gilbert, a bachelor of arts at Oxford University and a master of arts at Cambridge University, and the students of Pedagogical Institute (specialty «Primary education», educational level «bachelor», groups Pob-1-13-4.0 d, Pob-2-13-4.0 d, Pob-3-13-4.0 d).

The event was organized by the efforts of the Foreign Languages and Methodology Department (moderators: Olga Kotenko, head of foreign languages & methodology department, PhD (candidate of science) in Pedagogy, Associate Professor and Yuliia Labunets, assistant of the department). The features of upbringing children in the UK on the different educational levels as well as the problems of living space organization of young people of the UK were discussed.

The aim of the lesson was to improve students' foreign language speaking skills and pile-up the experience of intercultural communication as well as continuing the series of events with foreign language native speakers for the students of Pedagogical Institute of Borys Grinchenko Kyiv University.