
Skype lecture on "Foreign Language Education: Foreign Language with Teaching Methods»

On December 06, 2019, a Skype lecture "The World Around Us: from intercultural sensitivity to intercultural literature in practice" was held for first-year students of the specialty "Primary Education" within the framework of studying "Foreign Language Education: Foreign Language with Teaching Methods" on the topic "Living in Another Country".

The interactive Skype lecture was the result of cooperation between the Department of Foreign Languages and Methodology of the Pedagogical Institute of Borys Grinchenko Kyiv University and the Department of Applied and Social Sciences of the European University of Cyprus. Professor Isaak Papadopoulos presented his research on the development of intercultural relations in the European context to the students. Tetiana Holovatenko, lecturer of the Department, provided support of the lecture and organization of interactive tasks.

At the end of the lecture students:

- learned to distinguish varieties of multiculturalism (interculturalism and multiculturalism);
- learned about the European policy of supporting multiculturalism and multilingualism;
- mastered methods of developing intercultural literacy of children of preschool and primary school age.

Moderator: Tetiana Holovatenko, lecturer of the Department of Foreign Languages and Methodologies
